Washington Post finds nice things to say about Christians

<http://ticklishears.com/?p=270>

Well, certain Christians, anyway: Lyndsay Moseley was no longer inspired by the evangelical Christian faith of her youth. As an environmental activist, she believed that it offered little spiritual support for her work and was overly focused on opposing abortion and gay marriage. ... and, you know, sin and all that stuff. Then the 27-year-old District resident discovered [...]
