

Famlynnet International Homeschooling Resources :: Your Favorite Site

Middle-schoolers suspended over classroom sex: Are you considering homeschooling yet?

<http://www.consideringhomeschooling.com/post/2008/12/11/Middle-Schoolers-Suspended-Over-Classroom-Sex-Are-you-considering-homeschooling-yet.aspx>

This from the Palm Beach Post: Three students at Glades Middle School in Miramar were suspended this week and face expulsion after school administrators say they were engaged in inappropriate sexual activity in a classroom. One female and two male seventh-graders may have been involved in sexual activity for several weeks, school district spokesman Keith Bromery said. Two seventh-grade teachers have been reassigned to work away from students while the district investigates, Bromery said. The activity was allegedly going on in their classrooms," Bromery said. "They're responsible for maintaining a certain decorum." He said none of the students are being accused of rape. Other students may have been involved aside from the three suspended - all of whom are about 13 years old. "These three are the perpetrators," Bromery said. Principal Krista Herrera sent a letter home with students Tuesday, assuring parents that students at the school are safe. Reason 524,237 to start your home school today.Â I like the quote about the "reassigned pending an investigation" teachers:Â "They're responsible for maintaining a certain decorum."Â No word yet if these are former "Teacher of the Year" awardees.

Date created: 2009/01/07