Foster Care: Making a Difference During the Formative Years

Scripture calls us to care for the vulnerable. Except for a child in the womb, no one is more vulnerable than a child without a family. Adoption and foster care represent a deeply meaningful journey, yet adoptive and foster families face unique stressors, including insecure attachment issues, trauma responses, and service agencies who don't provide sufficient training or support. How can you help? Authors Jon and Dawn Stone are with us on our Focus on the Family Broadcast "Foster Care: Making a Difference During the Formative Years" to share a concept called "missional fostering," which includes coming alongside children as a church community and connecting families with the resources they need to raise their children to thrive.
