Is Technology Changing Our Brain Formatting - Should We Change Our Educational System To Match?

<http://EzineArticles.com/9597789>

Not long ago, I was discussing with our think tank some of the challenges with all this new technology and all the information known to mankind literally in the palm of every student lucky enough to have a parent who bought them a smartphone. When holding all this knowledge in their hands - it's no wonder they feel it a wasteful effort to memorize anything - "why bother, I can just look it up!" Well, they are right, even if we know there are something they do need to know (memorize) and think about to survive in this world. Let's talk.
