IAHE Homeschool Convention

<http://www.homeschoolfitnesscoach.com/blog/iahe-homeschool-convention/>

I am looking forward to attending this convention. I haven't been to a convention in two years. Life has been pretty hectic with my husband's travel schedule, my boot camps and tumbling competitions. This year put my foot down and demanded we go. Okay, so I whined a little, but we're going! There are going to be some wonderful workshops on college that my teenager wants to attend. I will officially have all my kids homeschooling next year. My 3 year old will be working with my 5 year old, although somewhat modified. I will have a middle schooler and my high schooler will be completing her last year of school. Wow! Time sure flies! If any of you are attending the Indy convention, please let me know. I would love to meet you. Hugs~~ Post from: Homeschool Fitness Coach
